ABOUT BPEC

Brighton Peace and Environment Centre (BPEC) is an educational charity which encourages people to explore the links between their own lives and with people, places and issues around the world.

BPEC supports educators to bring a global dimension to learning. This explores diversity, social justice and environmental sustainability whilst developing creativity and critical thinking.

The education programme provides a range of training for staff teams and individuals. Our courses are run in a range of venues across Sussex, or we can visit your school for training tailored to your requirements.

We provide:

- courses run for teachers with a specific global learning focus
- whole school training (governors welcome)
- training for artists and other practitioners involved with the arts, music or sport.
